CHRISTIE'S

MESSAGE FROM JAMIE COLLINGRIDGE

There is bumper crop of clocks this month. In the following pages you will find (mostly decorative) clocks in eight different sales in London, New York and Amsterdam. At the end of this update (p. 26) I have given contact details of the specialist to contact for each sale if you need more information or extra images, but if I can be of any help please just let me know.

I am pleased to say that clocks have been getting some good press and on a couple of occasions this year I have opened up my daily newspaper to read of one which has done well at auction. In the more specialist press, reviewing the Warner collection Anne Crane of the Antiques Trade Gazette commented 'Good British clocks appear to be credit crunch-resistant at present' and her colleague Anna Brady has also written of the 'cheering statistics' demonstrated by our inaugural sale of Important English Furniture and Clocks in January. Amidst all the doom and gloom about the economy it is refreshing to read something positive. Long may it continue.

Kind regards

Jamie Collingridge
