Comment: Nic McElhatton, Auctioneer, specialist and head of department:

“This result continues the very successful series of Sunday sales at Christie's South Kensington. There was a real buzz in the saleroom where a high percentage of the lots were purchased by attending clients, who fought strongly against the ranks of telephone bidders and an auctioneer's book bulging with commission bids. I spoke with several clients after the sale who were delighted to be able to attend the sale at the weekend and were eager to know when the next "Living with Objects" sale would be.”
