CHRISTIE'S EDUCATION CELEBRATES 25th ANNIVERSARY
Anniversary Coincides With Relocation to New College Building

Celebrating 25 years of academic success, Christie's Education will relocate on 1st September 2003 to a stand-alone college building of its own. The purpose-built college site has been completely refurbished and the new facilities will be up and running for the new academic year 2003-2004.

The building at 153 Great Titchfield Street, W1P 7FR, dates to 1970 and is on the site of the first Building Crafts College founded in 1893. It is situated in the historic Fitzrovia area with its strong associations with both arts and education. Fitzrovia has long been associated with great artists and literary figures and no doubt Christie's Education will continue to thrive in the lively and stimulating neighbourhood.

The modern and spacious building provides unprecedented facilities for study including excellent lecture and seminar rooms, an up-to-date library and slide library, superior I.T. and museum facilities as well as the numerous benefits of its surrounding environment. The School will be close to University College London, The British Museum, The British Library, Senate House and Regent's Park as well as to cafes, bars, shops and restaurants. The building is easily accessible, serviced by Great Portland Street and Warren Street tube stations and various bus routes.

The new Christie's Education building will become the main centre of all Master's, Diploma and Certificate programmes as well as the home of other Short Courses and the highly acclaimed Christie's Wine Course (rated in the top three best wine courses by The Daily Telegraph).
