Following yesterday's evening auction of Post-War and Contemporary Art, which totalled over £14 million, today's day sale also achieved strong prices and saw enthusiastic bidding from an international audience. We are particularly pleased with the prices realized for Damien Hirst (lot 229a), Nicolas de Staël (lot 103) and Martin Kippenberger (lot 211), which are superb examples that were highly sought after by private buyers. This auction concludes Christie's June 2004 week of Impressionist and 20th Century Art sales in London, which have collectively totalled ££62,339,731.
