Comment: Chris Munro, Director of Wine, Christie's London said:

"Another tremendous result for wine at King Street reinforcing the strength of the London wine market. Prices for the very finest and rarest wines continue to show no signs of weakening. We were particularly pleased with the results of the Superb Private Collection which well exceeded its pre-sale estimate cases of Romanee-Conti 1964 making £50,600 each and a case of the 1966 making £46,000. There were also strong prices for blue chip Bordeaux with Petrus 1982 making £32,200 a dozen and Chateau Lafite-Rothschild 1982 reaching new heights making £19,550 a case."
