COMMENT: Sarah Hodgson, Associate Director, Head of Popular Entertainment:

"Once again The Beatles topped the bill at Christie's Pop sale this afternoon. Other artists' memorabilia which performed well included £4,230 for a pair of stage trousers worn by Freddie Mercury, £9,165 for 35 previously unpublished images of The Jimi Hendrix Experience while two drumsticks used by The Who's Keith Moon fetched £1,057. We were pleased to see many new faces in the saleroom today as well as plenty of international interest on the telephones."
