COMMENT: Rupert Banner, Associate Director, Auctioneer & Head of Christie's International Motor Cars, London: "The James Allington Collection totalled £368,000 and proved extremely popular with spirited bidding for the cutaway drawings with many estimates exceeded. The Bugatti T35B drawing was one of a number of highlights making £9,987, five times its pre-sale estimate. Similarly the handcrafted recreation of James Allington's Ferrari 250 Testa Rossa and Frazer Nash sold well and we are delighted that the latter will remain in the UK. Our International department looks forward to 2003 with sales beginning in Paris at the annual Rétromobile Show in February."
