Comment: Jane Turner, Director and Sarah Reynolds, Associate Specialist commented:

"The Maritime Art sale achieved strong results, and we are particularly pleased with the interest received for the Channel Islands Collection. The Collection realized a total of £1,122,571, and set a new world record price for a painting by Edmund Blampied (St. Helier 1886-1966) when Preparations for lunch in a Jersey Kitchen sold for £20,000 to a telephone bidder (lot 132). Many of the works by Channel Islands artists and depicting local scenes were bought by private collectors from the islands following some very competitive bidding for the highest quality works."
