Paul van den Biesen, Associate Specialist & Charlotte Young, Specialist, Private Collections & Country House Sales,

Christie's London: "We are very pleased with the combined results of European Noble & Private Collection Sale Parts I and II which demonstrates the success of the new sale format where Private European collections were offered at both London sale sites on consecutive days. It is interesting to note that the majority of the top lots at King Street were sold to private collectors outside of the European Union. The top lot bought online at South Kensington, a French patinated and gilt-bronze striking mantel clock, sold for £43,750. We look forward to the next European Noble & Private Collection sales on 30th September & 1st October."
