Morgan Osthimer, Head of Works on Paper, Impressionist and Modern Art, comments: "With a strong sell-through rate the Impressionist and Modern Works on Paper sale demonstrated a strong appetite among collectors worldwide for works by the best-known artists at every price level. The sale's top lot was Danseuse au repos by Edgar Degas, which sold for $1,865,000. The success of this drawing builds on the momentum for Degas, whose pastel, Trois danseuses, far exceeded its estimate during last night's evening sale, when it sold for $11.9million."

David Kleiweg de Zwaan, Head of the Day Sale, noted, "Today's sales were led by the excellent grouping from the John C. Whitehead Collection. The top lot of the collection, and of both sale sessions, was George Braque's Cubist Tête de femme II, which saw highly competitive bidding before ultimately selling for $3,077,000. The 59 works from the John C. Whitehead Collection within the Day sessions realized $14,148,250, bringing the collection total to $72,587,250. We were also very pleased with the price achieved by Eugene Boudin's Bordeaux, le port, which sold for $1,505,000."
