Per Holmberg, Head of Wine Department, North America: "Having achieved several World Records in the past two days, the October sales at Christie's New York demonstrate our distinction as the home for collectors of the world's rarest and most coveted Wines and Spirits. A combined two-day total of $4,528,519 and 100% sell thru rate during our evening sale underscores our strategy of offering highly curated collections with top-of-market prices. We look forward to continued success this season, with robust sales to come in November and December."
